ISP OVERVIEW

For over 30 years, International Student Placements has successfully placed thousands of college students with local host families in all regions of the United States. Coming from a variety of different backgrounds, our hosts are warm, supportive, and genuine people all dedicated to meeting the needs of the students who live with them.

Some college students are concerned that they're too old for a homestay program and that they won't have any freedom. Don't worry! ISP understands these concerns and places students with hosts who understand that college students need independence. And, if you don't like your host, our staff can switch you to another one. Safety and student satisfaction are our top priorities!
